

Dr. Glenn Bryan

Glenn is a strategic and organizational leadership consultant and a university professor. Through his consulting firm, GrowthMatrix, Inc., Glenn is focused on a mission to strategically build businesses by driving organizational health and performance. Through his role as a management professor at Ohio Wesleyan University, he teaches marketing, corporate strategy, and leadership to the next generation of business leaders.

As a leadership consultant, his primary focus is helping organizations operate in a healthy and interdependent manner. Success in today's competitive market requires that firms holistically develop their leaders, both present and future, to not only achieve high-performance metrics but to do so while building strong relationships. Unfortunately, organizations are naturally prone to be unhealthy. As a certified Strategic and Organizational Leadership (SaOL) Consultant, Glenn has the expertise, perspective, and methodology to help organizations become healthier.

As a management professor, his primary focus is building future leaders that are prepared to successfully enter the workforce, or start their own businesses, and be productive citizens incorporating values, ethics, and social consciousness into their daily lives.

Glenn believes in the power of successful businesses that embody character and ethics to positively transform society. His personal vision is to educate, consult, and grow leaders to reach their personal and professional goals while acting responsibly to their employees, customers, and communities.